

Contents

Part A	Setting the scene	9
Chapter 1	Making it comparable – Standards in science education Peter Nentwig, Sascha Schanze	11
Part B	Country reports	21
Chapter 2	Standards in science education in Australia Rosemary Hafner	23
Chapter 3	Austria at the beginning of the way to standards in science Hubert Weiglhofer	61
Chapter 4	Science education standards and science assessment in Denmark Jens Dolin	71
Chapter 5	How standards in science education are set and monitored in the English education system Robin Millar	83
Chapter 6	National science education standards and assessment in Finland Jari Lavonen	101
Chapter 7	Science education standards in France Pierre Malléus	127
Chapter 8	Standards and competence models: The German situation Horst Schecker, Ilka Parchmann	147
Chapter 9	Standards for a lower secondary biology course in Germany: A contribution from MNU Jürgen Langlet	165
Chapter 10	National educational standards in Germany: Methodological challenges for developing and calibrating standards-based tests André A. Rupp, Miriam Vock	173

Chapter 11	“Science and technology for all” – an Israeli curriculum based on new standards in science education Rachel Mamlok-Naaman	199
Chapter 12	Development and evaluation of science standards in the Netherlands Heleen Driessen	221
Chapter 13	Science curriculum in Portugal: From the development to the evaluation of students’ competences Cecília Galvão, Pedro Reis, Ana Freire, Teresa Oliveira	237
Chapter 14	Standards in science education: The situation in Scotland Tom Bryce	255
Chapter 15	On standards in science education in the contemporary Swedish school system Helge Strömdahl	263
Chapter 16	How to develop, implement and assess standards in science education? 12 challenges from a Swiss perspective Peter Labudde	277
Chapter 17	Standards for science education in Taiwan Mei-Hung Chiu	303
Chapter 18	Standards for science education in the United States: Necessary Evil? Norman G. Lederman, Judith S. Lederman	347
Part C	A coda	373
Chapter 19	Standards: an international comparison Peter Nentwig, David Waddington	375
Chapter 20	Education Standards: attempting a critical judgement of development – a reflection of the symposium Rolf Dubs	405
	Biographies of the authors	431