

Contents

Part I: Citizenship Education Theory

Anne Sliwka

Citizenship Education as the Responsibility of a Whole School:
Structural and Cultural Implications 7

Cynthia Miller-Idriss

Dismantling the Nation, Debunking Pride:
Discourse and Practice in German Civics Classrooms 19

John Annette

Community Involvement and Citizenship Education –
Where is the ‘Political’ in Citizenship Education? 27

Roland Reichenbach and Bruce Maxwell

Democratic Behaviour and Political Action:
Remarks on Political Education 37

Gerhard Himmelmann

Teaching, Learning and Living Democracy:
An Advanced Concept for German “Political” Education..... 45

Part II: Empirical Research on Citizenship Education

Hans Peter Kuhn

Explaining Gender Differences in Adolescent Political and Civic Identity:
The Impact of the Self-Concept of Political Competence and Value Orientations 59

Monika Buhl

The Role of Family Background in Citizenship Education 73

Hans Oswald and Christine Schmid

The Influence of Parents and Peers on Political Participation of Adolescents in the New States of Germany 85

Elena Marta and Maura Pozzi

Young Volunteers, Family and Social Capital:
From the Care of Family Bonds to the Care of Community Bonds 97

Peter Noack
Civic Knowledge and Intolerant Attitudes among Adolescents:
Findings from Quasi-Experimental and Survey Studies..... 109

Martina Diedrich
Connections between Quality of School Life and Democracy in German Schools..... 121

Part III: The Practice of Citizenship Education

John Potter
Developing Strategies for Citizenship Education in and beyond the School 135

F. Klaus Koopmann
Experiential Civic Learning: Rationale and Practice 145

Andrew Furco
Is Service-Learning Really Better Than Community Service?
A Study of High School Service Program Outcomes 155

James Youniss
Forming a Political-Moral Identity Through Service 183

Heinz Reinders and James Youniss
Community Service and Civic Development in Adolescence
Theoretical Considerations and Empirical Evidence 195

Schima Hassan-Beik, Christina Saß and Manfred Hofer
Service Learning at a German University: A Case Study..... 209