

Contents

Introduction . . . . .	7
------------------------	---

Essays in theology

1. “i found god in myself & i loved her, i loved her fiercely” . . . . .	19
2. “Do not love anybody more than you love yourself.” On ethics, oppression, and resistance . . . . .	28
3. Women, agency and motherhood . . . . .	38
4. Integrity and justice at stake . . . . .	51
5. When will white, European men stop being normal? . . . . .	62

Essays in ethics

6. “Only when we have faces” – ethics in a post-colonial epoch . . . . .	79
7. Women’s human rights in Sweden – a feminist ethical perspective . . . . .	102
8. Knowledge, empathy and responsible encounters . . . . .	121
9. Sweden – a rainbow nation? Human dignity, differences and rights . . . . .	135
10. Human dignity and human rights. A gender and Swedish perspective . . . . .	151

Essays in education

11. Epistemology from a broken body. Vulnerability, sexuality and education . . .	167
12. Human dignity and gender equality: Reflections on concepts and ideals of human rights and democracy in Sweden and South Africa . . . . .	180
13. Values in Swedish education – struggles and tensions in directions around democracy, gender and diversity . . . . .	201
14. The universal and the particular in the work of Seyla Benhabib – and education in a globalised world . . . . .	228
15. Human dignity and education – concluding discussion . . . . .	240

Appendix 1. English summary of Karin Sporre: Först när vi får ansikten. Ett flerkulturellt samtal om feminism, etik och teologi . Atlas Akademi, 1999 . . . . .	255
--	-----