

Contents

Introduction Rob Freathy, Friedrich Schweitzer, Stephen Parker, Henrik Simojoki . . . . .	7
---	---

Historical approaches

Insights from the history of the education of teachers of Religious Education in England. Subject specialists and specialisation Rob Freathy, Stephen G. Parker . . . . .	25
Professionalisation of teachers of RE. Insights from the history of the education of teachers in Germany Henrik Simojoki, Friedrich Schweitzer . . . . .	43
The universitisation of teacher education and Religious Education Stephen J. McKinney . . . . .	57

Country-related overviews

Improving Religious Education via research and practices in which the voices of (future) RE teachers are included. Experiences from the Netherlands as illustrations Gerdien Bertram-Troost . . . . .	75
How to improve Religious Education through teacher training? Experiences and research from Austria regarding the challenge of religious pluralisation Melanie Binder, Martin Rothgangel . . . . .	89
Religious Education: Measuring impact and the impact of measuring. Recent developments in Catholic Religious Education in Flanders Didier Pollefeyt . . . . .	107
What does neutral mean? Reflections on an all too self-evident guiding concept of religion-related teaching and teacher training in the Swiss context Thomas Schlag . . . . .	127

Religious Education teacher training in support of the public sphere. Reflections on an integrated model Athanasios Stogiannidis, Evangelos Pepes . . . . .	145
How to improve Religious Education through teacher training. Experiences and insights from Islamic RE in Germany and Austria Fahimah Ulfat . . . . .	159
Training teachers for Religious Education in German vocational schools. A special case? Alexandra Wörn, Hanne Schnabel-Henke, Friedrich Schweitzer . . . . .	173
 Empirical studies
Developing Religious Education teachers' orientative knowledge. An analysis of provision for professional knowledge formation in England Vivienne Baumfield, Karen Walshe . . . . .	185
Empirical research on professional knowledge of RE teachers. The FALKO-R Project Michael Fricke . . . . .	201
Teacher education through collaborative research on teaching. Didactical Design Research Claudia Gärtner . . . . .	215
Quality and Quality Development in RE. Research on RE, research on initial teacher education and research on advanced teacher education. The QUIRU Project Friedrich Schweitzer, Mirjam Rutkowski, Evelyn Schnauffer . . . . .	227
Religious Education subject teacher education in the 2000s. Some Finnish perspectives Kaisa Viinikka, Martin Ubani, Arto Kallioniemi, Tuuli Lipiäinen . . . . .	241
 Conclusions
Understanding and developing RE teacher education. Conclusions and perspectives in a European horizon Stephen Parker, Henrik Simojoki, Rob Freathy, Friedrich Schweitzer . . . . .	257
Authors . . . . .	271